

Foundation for Education Development's Safeguarding Policy

The FED believes that it is vital to include young people in our long-term vision for education; they are the ones whom the vision is being created for.

As a result of this, the FED aims to incorporate young people into our discussions to ensure we have their vital perspective on what education should look like over the next 10 years.

We take our safeguarding responsibilities very seriously, and have created a comprehensive safeguarding policy to ensure that young people and vulnerable adults are safe and included when they work with the FED.

Our overall, detailed safeguarding policy can be viewed by emailing young.people@fed.education. Within this policy, you will be able to view our overall safeguarding ethos and approach, alongside issue-specific safeguarding policies and procedures, such as:

- Virtual Meeting Policy
- Storing Personal Data Policy
- Internal Reporting Mechanism
- External Promotion Policy
- Contacting Young People and Vulnerable Adults Policy
- In-Person Meeting Policy
- Virtual Meeting Guidance for Young People and Vulnerable Adults
- Young Person and Vulnerable Adults Reporting Mechanism

As part of our safeguarding policy, we have a Designated Safeguarding Lead; Rae Snape. Rae has extensive experience of working in education and of safeguarding, and will oversee the safeguarding operations when we work with young people and vulnerable adults. Rae can be contacted via young.people@fed.education.

In addition, we have a number of issue-specific safeguarding forms, which can be viewed upon request by contacting young.people@fed.education
